Large Attendance at the Republican Meetings Last Night.

COUNTY DELEGATES CHOSEN

The Women Were Out in Large Numbers --There Were some Lively but Friendly Contests--List of the Delegates

Yesterday was largely given up to politics in this city. It was the engrossing topic of conversation. The talk culminated in the evening in the Republican primaries to select delegates to the County convention. The city is getting so large, and the vote now being doubled, the old style ward meetings cannot longer be resorted to in getting the party expression. It became evident that rooms could not be found in the southern part of the city large enough to accommodate the voters, and it was decided early in the day to hold precinct meetings in the Third and Fourth Wards, and hand bills were issued calling them at various points

The ward and precinct meetings were more largely attended than ever before, and an inspiring sight was the number of women who took part. They were out in every ward, and in some of the precincts they outnumbered the men They took their full share of the labors, and a woman delegate will go from nearly every precinct to the convention Those who prophesied that the women would not properly exercise the right of suffrage have missed their guess in regard to Colorado Springs at least.

In some of the precincts there was some lively contests by candidates to get their friends sent as delegates. The meetings in the First and Second Wards were particularly lively. The meeting in the County Court room was largely attended, and was made up of the voters from the Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth precincts. They selected delegates through a committee appointed for the purpose. The Twenty-ninth precinct met at Republican headquarters and elected through a committee.

Precincts 27 and 28 C. W. Haines was elected Chairman and Henry McAlister, Jr., Secretary. The delegates chosen are as follows, Precinct 27, H. G Lunt, F. F. Robb O S. Johnson Mrs. C. A. Eldredge C. S. Sprague, W. A Platt, Sherwood Aldrich.

The County convention meets in this city next Monday at 10 a m

In Favor of Silver.

Jackson, Miss., Sept 6—Walter Denny of Jackson county, was to-day nominated for Congress in the Sixth District by the Democratic convention at Pass Christian on the 30th ballot.

T. R. Stockdale, the incumbent, withdrew in favor of Denny. The convention declared in favor of silver Killed at a Coal Mine.

Pittsburg, Kan., Sept. 6. Con Reardon, a well known and highly respected coal man, was instantly killed at Donahey's works, about five miles east of Pittsburg, this afternoon He was assisting in sinking a new shaft when a blast exploded prematurely, mangling the upper portion of his body terribly. Reardon was about 21 years old and leaves a wife but no children

M'KINLEY TALKS

His Opinions Upon Various Matters of Current Interest.

Boston, Sept 6—Governor William McKinley of Ohio arrived in Boston today on his way to Maine, to take part in the Reed campaign. The Governor found time this afternoon to call upon his cousin, General Osborne, in Roxbury and while there he granted an interview to a reporter on the political situation. Governor McKinley said he could not see how the tariff could be other than the dominant issue of the next national campaign Quoting the words of President Cleveland, he said: "The war is not over yet." The Democrats as their announcement indicates, purpose cutting deeper and if they attempt to do this, the Republican party has no other course to follow than to adhere to its principles The tariff question in the West takes the lead of all other issues, even the currency question there is no way for the Democracy to dodge this question, which will undoubtedly be the issue in the Presidential campaign in 1896."

Asked what the attitude of the next Republican convention would be on the silver question, Governor McKinley replied that the policy of the Republican party was well defined in the platform of 1892.

"The Republican party," he declared, "has declared itself in favor of the coinage of both gold and silver That position it occupies to-day."

Governor McKinley was asked what the effect of the letter of Senator Jones of Nevada would be After meditating for a moment he replied "Well, I don't know."

It was suggested that perhaps Senator Jones had never been a very staunch Republican, particularly in his attitude on the silver question "To this suggestion Governor McKinley replied firmly, "He was a staunch Republican." Asked to the probable motive that actuated Senator Jones, he said "It would not be proper for me to attempt to explain his position." It was evident, however, that Governor McKinley regarded the loss of Senator Jones a serious one

Referring to the coming Congressional elections, the Governor said that he had not the slightest doubt that the next House would be Republican All signs and indications, he said, pointed to the success of the Republican ticket throughout the country. As to the political complexion of the next United States Senate he said there were so many conditions he did not care to express any opinion.

MONTANA REPUBLICANS.

They Hold the Democrats Responsible For Present Hard Times.

Helena, Mont., Sept. 6.—The Republican State convention was held in this city this afternoon: Charles Hartman, the present Congressman, was renominated by acclamation W. H Hunt of Helena was renominated for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court on the first ballot. The platform holds the Democratic party responsible for hard times and denounces the tariff bill.

A DEMOCRATIC BREAK.

Louisiana Sugar Planters Seek the Republican Party.

New Orleans, Sept. 6.—The sugar planters convention in this city to-day was the most remarkable gathering in many years and the first serious break in the Democratic party in 20 years is now actually threatened The convention declared in favor of an alliance with the Republican party on national issues and two and possibly, three Congressional districts comprising the sugar region, are endangered to the Democrats. There were probably 300 representative men present at the convention and nearly all of them are men of wealth with large influence and the action they have taken cannot be under-estimated.

HIS MOTHER HELPED.

A Missourian Who Went Gunning for His Enemy

Jackson, Mo. Sept. 6.—Presley Ellsworth and his mother waylaid and shot to death Henry Stiff, a blacksmith, near Egypt mills, this county, yesterday evening Constable Frontsorg of Randl Township brought Rosie Ellsworth to this city to-day, and lodged her in jail

The trouble seems to have grown out from both families. Only Presley Ellsworth and his mother were concerned in the murder, the daughter, Marie, not being implicated, as at first reported.

Presley Ellsworth fled the county and has not been captured Rosie Ellsworth, the mother, is a daughter of Shap Phillips, once a well-known character in New Madrid County, and a niece of Presley Phillips She comes of a desperate family, as both Shap and Presley Phillips killed a man

They were wealthy planters

The Worst Told at Hinckley.

Pine City, Minn., Sept 6.—The worst has probably been told at Hinckley and it is doubtful if there will be any very large additions to the list of the dead. Last night several bodies were found in a cellar but were so badly burned that it was impossible to determine whether there were three or four bodies Whether there will be any more found is doubtful Supplies are coming into Hinckley at a rapid rate and there is no lack in any department of the relief work.

The excitement caused by the fire at Pokegama has about subsided and now that all the dead have been buried attention is being paid to the hundreds of dead animals scattered over the country These are being cremated as fast as found

There are no fires in the vicinity of Carlton, reports from Duluth notwithstanding.

A National Bank Fails.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 6—The Middletown National bank at Middle town, of which C. W. Raymond is president, closed its doors to-day. The cause of the failure is supposed to be the discounting for corporations and individuals who find it impossible to pay. The failure had been anticipated

DEBS'S TRIAL.

Cases for Contempt are Continued at Chicago.

READING THE TELEGRAMS.

The Famous 'Buy a Gun' Message Said to be Private—An Inflammatory Dispatch Sent to Leadville—A R U. Paid for It.

Chicago, Sept 6—Edwin Mulford and his stack of telegrams consumed the entire time both morning and afternoon in the contempt cases against the officers and directors of the A R U President Debs was in court early and remained throughout the proceedings

Attorneys for the Santa Fe railroad which had brought proceedings against the defendants similar to those of the government, asked leave to amend their bill, Judge Woods ruled that, while the testimony heard should be considered as testimony in the government's case, it should also be applicable to the Santa Fe proceedings E. A Mulford, Jr., manager of the Western Union telegraph company, was called and produced a collection of over 9000 telegrams bearing upon the strike The defense bitterly objected to the admittance of telegrams, but Judge Woods finally admitted them Dozens of them were read and when the famous 'Save your money money and buy a gun" message was read it was found that it also contained the words 'Tell Effie I am well," showing it to be a private telegram

Attorney Gregory took occasion to denounce the prosecution for giving the incomplete message for publication Judge Woods aid that he did not consider that the alleged garbling of the dispatch amounted to much

'When I read that telegram in the papers, said the court, "I did not attach much importance to it, as it did not appear particularly incendiary.'

It was shown that Debs had nothing to do with the sending of the 'buy a gun' dispatch and that it was sent by a subordinate After the reading of other telegrams, Mr Mulford was temporarily excused, and John Brennock, a city contractor, took the stand During his hearing President Debs entered the court room. He was pale from his recent illness, and seemed scarcely able to stand as he walked slowly to his seat. Mr. Debs had not expected to be present at to-day's proceedings, and left his bed against his physician's orders

Witness Brennock testified to having secured during the strike an order of non-interference with Debs, which order he used in having some switching done in the railroad yards He said he experienced much difficulty in having the railroad cars moved

Mr. Mulford continued reading telegrams when court reconvened in the afternoon. The following is a fair sample of those offered in evidence:

"To T. R. Eldredge, Leadville, Colo—Do not be frightened by injunctions, arrests or troops. I have got a house full of them This is common all over. This fight is now the money power and combined monopoly to annihilate labor and enslave those dependent upon labor, backed by injunctions, arrests and troops. Children and childish men have no part in it Only strong men and broad minds can free labor. You in Colorado ought to understand what the gold money power means and be willing to reject it even to starvation Injunctions and troops cannot operate the roads.

"There are not 'scabs' enough to fill one-tenth of the vacancies. There are 50 men quitting to every one returning. General situation never better than today. One hundred trade unions will strike for railroad men to-morrow. Will they not help themselves? Newsboys have struck and boycotted the subsidized press. Let none return to work until the General Managers' association agrees in writing to reinstate every man the country over. Good men will win this fight. E. V. DEBS"

The body of the telegrams and the signature were both typewritten It was sent under date of July 10, eight days after the Woods-Grosscup injunction was issued G F Crackel, an employee in the Revere house telegraph office, testified that the A. R. U's secretary, Sylvester Keliher, paid for the telegrams which had been read When checks were given in payment they were signed by Debs and Keliher. Court adjourned until to-morrow.

Ten More Bodies.

Hinckley, Minn., Sept. 6.—At noon today word was received that the cruisers had discovered 10 more bodies about a mile and a half northeast of Hinckley and wagons were sent out to bring them in for burial.

Three more bodies were buried this morning, This makes a total of 56 interred in Hinckley cemetery since Monday

Nevada Populists.

Reno, Nevd., Sept. 6.—The Populist convention adjourned at 2 o'clock this morning The Committee on Platform asked until 10 o'clock to-morrow before making its report

Chauncey Isn't In It.

New York, Sept. 6.—William Brookfield, chairman of the Republican county committee said to-day that he had not cabled to Chauncey M Depew asking him to run for Governor against Levi P. Morton

A Bicyclist Injured.

Paris, Sept 6.—In the six-hour bicycle race at the Velodrome Buffalo to-day, Walter of America was thrown from his wheel in a collision and struck on his head He was stunned and badly bruised.

Irrigation Congress.

Denver, Sept 6.—The first business before the irrigation congress to-morrow will be the report of the Committee on Resolutions The report will contain recommendations to Congress for the disposal of the arid lands and suggestions as to their reclamation and its discussion will consume a good deal of time. The delegates represent the most influential communities in the West and they control a majority in Congress. They will also have the support of the Transmississippi congress and to-morrow's resolutions will be the most important ever presented to the convention Albuquerque, N. M., was chosen last night as the next place of meeting

LOW GRADE IN QUANTITY.

The Elkton Shipping More and Better Ore Than Ever--October Preparations.

Special to The Gazette

Cripple Creek Sept 6—One of the greatest low-grade strikes yet made in camp is that of yesterday, when, in the Little Maggie lode, a vein 12 feet wide has been opened up The claim is located on the south slope of Squaw Mountain, and is owned by Fred Wilson, Bill Sayer, Ed Scott and others Three assays were made from ore taken right across the vein No 1 went $43 to the ton, No 2 $40 and No 3 $51 These assays were made on ore taken from ore at a depth of only 18 feet

H C Black, C A Castleman, A E Peachy and others who have a lease on the Lone Star No. 2 have a 12 inch streak of $150 ore This new find was made by accident, and as soon as ground was broken for sinking an old shaft It is pay from the grass roots.

There is a rumor on the street to-night to the effect that Mr Hayes has made a good find on the Bertha B Rumor also says that it is the Moose vein that has been found Mr. Hayes keeps quiet on the matter, and if there is any truth in the report evidently does not want it known

The Cripple Creek Public Sampling works at Victor yesterday shipped 17 cars of ore over the F and C C Of these 11 went to Denver, one to Pueblo and one to Canon City

John Emla and associates have put two shifts to work on their Mary Anne lode on Bull Hill.

The Nugget lode near the Blue Bell, is being worked by E M. Beuford and Dr Hatchancapp At present there is a good showing of low-grade ore and drifting will be continued until the Blue Bell lead is struck.

J E Phillips started a force of men to work on the Bennie lode, on Globe Hill, this morning. The property adjoins the Summit, and has a good showing.

Messrs Mathews and Elton have leased the Rose Maud, one of the Anaconda group, and will begin work to-morrow (Friday) morning. The Rose Maud was the mine which furnished the first shipments from Gold Hill in the early days.

The Poverty, west of Mound City, is again being worked by Messrs. Childers and Rogers, who have secured a patent on the property The owners have manufactured a whim which they now use. It can hardly be called a "beauty and a joy forever," but it answers every purpose. The present work is confined to sinking, but not until a depth of 60 feet is reached will a drift be started then they will make for the vein which was cut on the top of the hill. Messrs Childers and Rogers say they will be sending out ore inside of 30 days.

During the last week the Elkton has shipped more and better ore than ever. The work of sinking the main shaft another 100 feet is proceeding as rapidly as a large force of men, with every possible facility to assist them, can possibly do it. At the same time another force of men are at work in the open cuts endeavoring to find the parallel vein which was originally opened up in the Katherine. It is understood that the officers of the Elkton are getting everything in readiness for a tremendous output in October After that time they intend to keep the shipments up to that standard, however high it may be.

Messrs. Childers, Rogers and Bowman have taken a lease on the Nessie Box, a patented property west of Mound City. They are sinking a shaft in solid formation and have determined not to drift until a good depth has been reached A quantity of rich float has been picked up on the claim, and they have sunk their shaft where it is thickest. Assays on the float have returned $30,000, $12,000 and $38,000 to the ton

Work on the Ida May, on Raven Hill, is being continued under the management of Mr. Murray. It is at present producing considerable mill dirt. The manager says that he will probably be able to give some news for publication next week.

A Missing Man.

Cassopolis, Mich, Sept. 6—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of of Dr. A. B Conklin, who disappeared Sunday night, remains unsolved and no sufficient motive can be ascertained for his disappearance

Among his papers are insurance policies in the Maccabees of $2,000, in the Bankers' Association of Iowa for $4,000, and Accidental policies.

All reports agree as to the doctor's correct habits and mode of life, and the absence of domestic motives.

Ticket Completed.

Pueblo, Sept 6.—At a late hour this morning the Populist State convention completed the ticket as follows: Justice of the Supreme Court, J. Warner Mills of Denver; Regent of State University, L J. Morrison, Conejos county, Barney O Driscoll, San Juan county.

Vermont's Majority.

White RiverJunction, Vt., Sept. 6.—Returns from 238 towns give Woodbury (Rep) 41,550, Smith (Dem.) 13,613, McGinnis (Pop) 613, all others 354 Woodbury's majority over all, 25,971.

Col H C. Cross of Emporia, Kan ex-President of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas road and ex-President of the First National bank of Emporia, died suddenly at Mackinac Island, Mich

ONE NOTCH LOWER.

Robert J. Again Sets Up the World's Record.

A MILE PACED IN 2 02 1-2

A Magnificent Performance at Indianapolis--Alix Failed to Lower the Trotting Figures Fastest Mile Ever Made on a Wheel

Indianapolis, Sept 6—Indianapolis now holds the world's pacing record, and came within a fraction of a second today of the world's trotting record Robert J made the second heat in his match with Joe Patchen for $5,000 in two minutes two and a half seconds being the fastest mile ever paced The three heats averaged in speed two times and two-thirds seconds making the fastest three heats ever paced

The time by quarters of the second mile was as follows 31¼, 1:01½, 1:31½, 2:02½. In this heat Joe Patchen went like the wind and forced Robert J to make a spurt of speed almost as fast as that was phenomenal Colonel Taylor of St Louis the owner of the black stallion, had said before the race that if the gelding won he would have to beat his time at Fort Wayne, which was 2:03¼. The black came in under the wire in exactly that time In the first heat he had made the mile in 2:04 flat

The fast pacers scored for the word at 4:05 o'clock with the track in the pink of condition Joe Patchen had the pole They scored once without getting the word, but at the second time they went away with Patchen a little in the lead Robert J started at Starter Walker's "go" and went into the air. Driver Geers showed his masterly hand, quickly throwing the sod of Hartford into his stride by putting him to the outside of the track He was then six lengths behind, but he settled down to win the heat. Patchen went the eighth of a mile in 15 seconds, and was still six lengths ahead at the quarter.

Jack Curry, who was driving him thought he saw victory and a world's record for the black when he passed the half still far in the lead But the gelding was gaining and in the third quarter was nearly at his side. Down the homestretch Patchen still held the lead until about the last furlong when the gelding made one of those spurts that not even the liberal use of the whip could make, Patchen headed off.

There was great excitement when it was found that the time of the heat made it up to then the fastest ever paced in a race. The enthusiasm knew no bounds when the next heat showed up with its second and a quarter faster time In this heat Patchen seemed a sure winner, until almost under the wire, when Robert J forged a length ahead Curry tried the whip but it was plain the black was going his fastest. The performance, however, was so satisfactory to the crowd that both horses and their drivers, their owners and the driving club were given three cheers.

The third heat began with a beautiful even start, but the gelding broke at the quarter and lost six lengths again He settled down and came in winner without seeming to be pushed to his utmost. His winning spurts in the last furlong caused tumultuous cheers

The time by quarters for the three heats was: First heat— 31¼, 1:02½; 1:34, 2:03¾; second—30¼; 1:01½; 1:30½; 2:02½; third 30¼, 1:01¼; 1:33¼; 2:07¼. Average 2:03 2-3.

The Trotting Race.

Alix was not successful in reducing the world's best trotting record, the best she could do being 2:04¾ The first attempt was made in 2:06¼, but at the first quarter the mare had cast a shoe. McDowell thought, however, that as she was going very fast he could keep on but when just past the seven-eighths she broke and lost fully four seconds before settling down The first quarter was made in 31, the half in 1:01¾, the three-quarters in 1.32 and seemed likely to finish in 2:03 when she broke McDowell announced that he would try it again but the mare could do no better than come within three quarters of Nancy Hanks's time. But for a break she would have just about equalled it. The mare was received with cheers nevertheless

ANOTHER RECORD.

The Fastest Mile Ever Made on a Bicycle.

Springfield, Mass., Sept 6.—J. P Bliss went on Hampden Park to-day the fastest mile ever made on a bicycle, making the record for the paced mile, flying start, 1 52 3-5, and incidentally lowering the three quarter record to 1 33

Fleetwood Park Races.

Fleetwood Park, N Y, Sept 6—The unfinished race of Wednesday between Alar and Phoebe Wilkes was captured to-day by the former. The contest of the two-year-old trotters proved to be the best race of the four on the regular programme, Miss Kate winning after a hard fight The free-for-all pacing race was an easy thing for Mascot, the favorite, who led from the start to finish in every heat

King Harry outclassed his field and won as he liked in the 2 27 class race

Detroit Papers Object to Assessments for Chicago's Benefit—The War on the United Press Proves an Expensive Failure—One of Their Usual Mistakes.

Detroit, Sept. 6.—An appeal for financial aid recently issued by Victor F. Lawson, president of the Chicago organization styling itself the Associated Press seems to have fallen rather flat in this region. He asked for "voluntary" subscriptions for the purpose of fighting the United Press, and the volunteers are conspicuous by their absence and a want of enthusiasm generally in the direction of putting up more money in a hopeless fight that is now being waged, it is said, to gratify the spite of John R. Welsh of Chicago, against Messrs. Dana, Bennett, Reid and Spinney, his former New York associates, who have sued him in the Supreme Court of the United States for breach of contract, laying their claim for damages at $200,000. Formerly this war against the United Press was waged to enable Mr. Lawson to consummate his modest undertaking of subjugating the New York Herald, Sun, Tribune and Times, and their associates, but this object, which seems rather in the dim distance, would probably be abandoned but for the towering rage of Wals incident to his having chosen the role of Benedict Arnold in the press business. At present he is playing the part of Hamlet and Lawson brings up in the rear as a tired out and disappointed Horatio.

Six months ago Lawson promised to have the scalps of Dana, Bennett, Reid and Spinney dangling at his belt within 30 days, and his performances has not come up to his expectations. In his foxy circular asking for "volunteer" contributions he admits that his concern is running behind in the neighborhood of $100,000 per annum. This is believed to be a hundred thousand dollars less than it was losing three months ago, a reduction in the service, which was none too good when the organization was losing close upon a thousand dollars per day, having resulted in a saving of some $8,000 per month. Mr. Lawson says in his circular that large sums have been borrowed, but that the repayment of these loans can wait. They are reported to amount to $100,000. This last gasp appeal which is very craftily prepared to attract gudegons is being laughed at.

An Ohio editor, discussing the subject here to-day, said: "This is the rankest rubbish. Chicago is never philanthropic. Lawson is out for the stuff, and Walsh can give him cards and spades. This big bluff on the part of the Chicago organization is nauseating. Lawson tells us the Chicago papers have voluntarily increased their assessments 50 per cent. As a matter of fact, they have a string on that increase as big as a hawser. They agreed among themselves to pay it, providing other cities come to the scratch. Well, other cities won't do it, and so Chicago makes her usual bluff and pays nothing. The old members of the W. A. P. very generally want peace, and expect to have it, and with it reduce, instead of increasing assessments, and a restoration of our relations with New York on the same satisfactory basis they had been for 30 year until this silly fight had been precipitated."

GAUTEMALA AND MEXICO.

The Chances of a War Between These Countries.

Mexico City, Sept. 5.—There is good prospect of war between Mexico and Guatemala unless the latter republic takes speedy steps to correct the tendency of the people to cross the southern Mexican border, contrary to law and boundary limitations. Reference has previously been made to the recent crossing of Guatemalans into Mexico and the commission by them of depredations on this side of the border. Although it has long been rumored that the Guatemalan authorities are responsible for these raids, it was difficult to believe that the rumors were well founded, for the simple reason that it seemed incredible that they would by such action court a complication with Mexico which might have serious results. But all doubt on this point has been removed by the declaration of The Diario, the official organ of the government of Mexico. The Diario states that Guatemalan authorities, laboring under the erroneous impression that certain territory which belongs to Mexico is under their jurisdiction, have committed acts of violence in logging camps, located in the State of Chiapaz. The Diario asserts that these acts have been committed, despite the fact according to the treaty of Sept. 27, 1882, defining the boundary between the two countries, this territory is to remain under the jurisdiction of Mexico, at least until the whole boundary line can be surveyed by a joint commission appointed for the purpose by the governments of the two republics. The Diario adds that Mexico has duly protested against these acts and presented the resultant claims, and that this government is determined to preserve the rights of the nation in the whole extent of territory recognized as Mexican by the treaty named above.

SWEET ON IRRIGATION.

He Wants Uncle Sam to Keep Charge of the Arid Lands.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Apropos of the Denver irrigation congress yesterday, Representative Sweet of Idaho, who as a member of the irrigation committee has been in charge of irrigation legislation during the last session of Congress, has this to say:

"I, of course, have no notion of what may be done or what the convention expects to do. The House committee having charge of the matter reported a bill during the late session looking to such surveys in the arid lands as will enable Congress to make appropriations for the reclamation of these lands. It is a national question and the nation should protect the settler until the latter is settled on his land and is the owner of his water right. The proposed plan of turning the land over to the States is impracticable and is the beginning of a system of landlordism that I hope never to see in America. The government can reclaim these lands with money borrowed at 3 per cent. The expense to the State—when the State can obtain it at all—would be double that rate, and as the cost of reclamation would doubtless be included in the price at which land is sold to the settler, the duty of the nation becomes obvious. It is said Congress will not appropriate the money. I am satisfied that Congress will make the appropriations, beginning cautiously; and, further, from actual investigation, I am satisfied that there would be more opposition developed to a transfer of the lands than to the irrigation appropriations.—

"The East is beginning to realize that it cannot allow the system of jobbery that would inevitably follow a universal transfer of the lands to take place, and it also realizes that the work of development must be commenced. When inter-state questions are involved, such as storage in Colorado and Wyoming and Kansas and Nebraska, such questions the national government alone can dispose of. The convention may be of great service if it represents the real wishes of the farmers of the arid regions and the best interests of all the people."

They Need a New Party.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 6.—An address has been issued to the people of Kansas by J. H. Lathrop, W. H. Bennington and others calling for the organization of a new political party in the State. The proposition outlined is for the electors to identify themselves with the new party by having polling booths throughout the State and the name of the organization is to be determined by this vote. The leaders of the movement have been Populists opposed to the re-election of Governor Lewelling.

Wrong as Usual.

Haverford, Pa., Sept. 6.—There is absolutely no truth in the report sent out by the Chicago organization styling itself "The Associated Press," of a serious cave-in of the surface at the town of Scotch Valley, which it said was completely engulfed with all its inhabitants. The town is four miles from this place and there has been no accident of any kind there.

THE BUTLER.

Celery dishes are low and flat and are of cut glass.

English chop dishes are round instead of the usual oval shape.

Bouillon cups of crystal or porcelain are low and flat, with flated covers.

Low shapes prevail in fruit dishes. They are of filigree silver or painted porcelain.

Salad bowls either match the service or are of cut or silver rimmed Bohemian glass.

Corn sets consist of long, slender platters, with plates to match, in an Indian corn pattern.

Coffee cups are of the low English pattern or high and slender and set upon a gilded or filigree base.

Among pretty odds and ends are little plates for bread and butter, bone dishes in half moon shapes, asparagus plates, etc.

Both goblets and tumblers are used. Cut and engraved glass and the gilded French baccarat are all in vogue. Wineglasses match in style.

Salad sets are in the form of geranium leaves in clouded browns, shading into brilliant autumn leaf colorings and overlaid with sprays of pink or scarlet flowers.

Finger bowls are veritable articles of luxury. They are of opalescent or rainbow glass, fine colored Bohemian, or of delicately engraved French crystal, heavily ornamented in gold.

Solid colors in turquoise and limoges blue, rich dark green with a wide rim of gold, du barri pink and apple green are all fashionable. Ornamental bands are delicately engraved with small designs.

Low, broad vegetable dishes are fashionable. Ribbon decorations, where the handles reproduce twisted ribbons in pale colors, are notably elegant. Oyster stew boxes bulge on one side and are indented on the other. New York Advertiser.

THE PLAY ACTOR.

Eunice Vance will hereafter scintillate in farce comedy.

Wilson Barrett's next New York engagement will be for eight weeks.

"On the Bowery" is likely to prove a popular success. Steve Brodie personates himself with naturalness.

"We have found no actors unwilling to join Madeline Pollard," recently said one of the gentlemen who is to have charge of that young woman's company.

Augustin Daly has completed his twenty-fifth year of management, and few theatrical men can look back with more satisfaction or forward with more hope.

The Kendals are going to forget California's treatment of their company, and they will visit San Francisco this season. They have given that city a wide berth for a long time.

Henri Marteau, the eminent young French violinist, is resting in Denmark. In October he will begin a tour through Norway, Sweden and Russia and will return to this country in January.

Richard Mansfield, who opens the Herald Square theater, New York, with "Japhet in Search of a Father," has engaged Mary Shaw, Henry Jewett, Mrs. McKee Rankin and Harry Pitt for his company.

Marie Wainwright's principal piece for the coming season is an original four act play by E. A. Lancaster and Julian Magnus, entitled "Daughters of Eve." Miss Wainwright has a dual role of twin sisters.

Francklyn Reglid, who recently married the septuagenarian multimillionaire Widow Ronalds, was christened Charles Francis Dilger, the Reglid being his surname spelled backward. Reglid admits that he is a very fine artist and well to do.

THE SNORER.

Restful sleep renews the life.

Turpentine is a sure exterminator of bedbugs.

Never sleep with the face turned toward a near wall.

Never have children habitually sleep with older persons.

Pure air is fully as important in sleeping as in waking hours.

"One bed for one person" is the best rule for health and comfort.

Study common sense and comfort rather than custom and fashion.

Never set a bed in the corner of a room. There should be open space on at least three sides.

Sleep is nature's season of repair. The more quiet and unbroken the sleep the more perfect its work.

WRITERS IN BUSINESS

ACHIEVEMENT OF LITERARY TALENT IN THE FINANCIAL WORLD.

Straightening Out a Business Wreck—How the New Southern Railway System Was Developed—Literary Gifts That Received Good Returns.

[Special Correspondence.]

New York, Sept. 3. The question is often asked, Where are we to look for the great writers in the future? And it is said in reply that we shall be sure to find those who are able to do great literary work engaged in other vocations because literature pays scanty returns that is to say that men who are capable of doing something really great with the pen have found that their capacities can earn much greater rewards when employed in more practical matters.

Recently there has occurred in New York a striking illustration of the truth that is contained in such a statement. There are three or four men engaged in financial business who in their younger days had an inclination toward literature and were, in fact, almost tempted to make it their life business. Chance, however, or perhaps good fortune, threw them into other associations, where their abilities have received such recognition as to bring them great fortunes. They are not known and probably never will be by name to the great American public, but they have won the highest respect and admiration from those who are masters in the financial world.

The latest of the achievements of these men in association with others has been the creation of one of the greatest railway systems in the world, one which, at the final stroke of the pen a few days ago, was ready equipped for the transportation of passengers and freight over nearly 5,000 miles, and one which will practically command the transportation business of a considerable portion of the southern states.

The literature of figures never told a more fascinating tale than that which this mighty transaction suggests. There were in the south a great number of railways some 15 years ago which by one of the magic operations of finance became as the stroke of the pen one system, known as the Richmond Terminal. Hard times and embarrassments come, and this system, controlling nearly 8,000 miles of railway, was obliged to beg the protection of the courts in other words, it became bankrupt.

The mind is almost bewildered in considering the figures which were presented to those who proposed to bring order out of this wreckage of disorder. There were securities amounting to several hundred millions of dollars, and they crossed one another so that it was almost as difficult to trace them as it would have been to explore the Egyptian labyrinth. Even the visible evidences of these obligations made a sight wonderful to look upon. The owners of these securities brought them to one of the banking houses in New York in bundles great and small. They tossed them over the railings to the clerks, for there was no other convenient way to handle them, so that at last the banking rooms looked like a great junkshop, and no one could tell how much these $400,000,000 of nominal value were really worth.

Finally the owners of the securities requested a famous banking house to undertake to create out of these remains a new property which should have a fixed value, and the work was delegated to a committee consisting of three men, each one of whom is possessed of unusual literary ability and would have been likely to have made his mark in the literary world had he yielded to his early temptation and made literature a vocation.

The committee sat down day after day before an appalling maze of figures. The totals represented as much as the entire issue of greenbacks of the United States government. It was necessary to trace every set of figures and learn the story of railway experience and values which lay behind. The work was almost like that made necessary by the translation of a cipher dispatch. At last these men completed it, and when they had done so their literary gifts availed them so that they wrote a report in terse, lucid and accurate English, in which the whole story of the past was told and a brilliant prophecy for the future made.

Having done this, these men, with persuasive argument, induced some of the greater capitalists to unite so that as much as $10,000,000 were raised and in other ways eight millions more. After that the work of reconstruction went on with amazing celerity. All the shattered fragments were brought together. Old corporations gave up their individuality and became component parts of a new one. Propositions creating new evidences of wealth amounting to $125,000,000 were made and accepted, and thus upon the 1st day of September the new Southern railway was introduced to the American public, one of the greatest systems in the world, second only to two or three of the colossal northern systems. The literary faculty played no small part in this mighty operation. The creation of this system involved the employment of intellectual powers as great as any that were ever used to write any work of the modern times. The men who took part in this might some of them have written a great story or an able history, but they would not have made the millions which are their payment for their share in this new creation in the railway world. E. J. EDWARDS.

THE MAGIC OF MUSIC.

How a Remarkable Loss of Memory Was Cured by Organ Notes.

The most curious incidents connected with memory are of course its entire lapse, and such cases are not by any means so infrequent as is generally supposed. It is startling enough no doubt to hear a fellow creature asking another fellow creature to tell him who he is, but such things have actually happened. Indeed it was only last year that a case of the kind was engaging the attention of Melbourne physicians. A young man, about 30 years of age, called at the police barracks and demanded to be informed as to his own identity. At first it was thought that the man was a lunatic, but it soon became evident that his statement as to his memory having failed him was perfectly genuine. He was taken into custody and kept in Melbourne jail, where he was the object of much attention and curiosity on the part of physicians and wardens.

He persisted in the declaration that he did not remember anything before the day on which he visited the police barracks, and several medical men expressed their belief in his statement, attributing his lack of memory to masked epilepsy. Curiously enough the man ultimately recovered his "senses" through the music of the jail Sunday service. One morning he was observed listening intently to the singing. He was questioned about it, and said: "I seem to have heard that before somewhere. What is it?" He did not understand when told it was music, but at the close of the service Dr. Shields took him up to the organ, and, having shown him that the sounds he had heard were produced by fingering the keys, seated him in front of the instrument.

The man struck several notes unintelligibly and then a chord or two in harmony, and in an instant, with a look of pleasure, he commenced a selection from "The Creation," which he played correctly and well. He used the stops and showed that he was familiar with the instrument, and in this way, as already indicated, he gradually recovered his loss of memory. Gentleman's Magazine.

THE CROW'S NEST

WHERE VANILLA COMES FROM.

A Remarkable Orchid Cultivated In Mexico and South America.

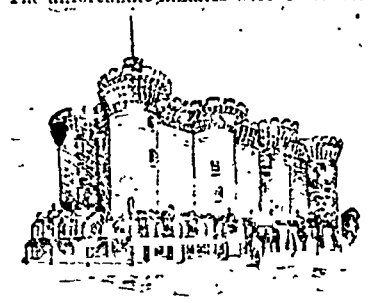
Of all orchids, the vanilla is the one most widely known and is remarkable in possessing the only species of the order that has any economic value. There are about 20 species scattered throughout the tropics, that having commercial value being Vanilla planifolia. It is characterized by having a tall climbing and branching leafy stem and large flowers of delicious fragrance, chiefly white and red (in several economic species green) with a broad, concave stalked lip, at the base rolled about the column, to which the stalk is adnate. The dark brown pods, or fruit, are 6 to 9 inches long, and are filled with a dark, oily, odorous pulp.

In Mexico vanilla is planted either in a field or in a forest. To render a forest fit for growing a crop all is cleared off, but its young saplings, which must serve as supports to the vanilla, the preference being given to trees having a milky sap. Near each tree two cuttings are placed side by side in the following manner: In a shallow trench, 1½ inches deep and 16 inches long, three knots of cutting (previously deprived of leaves) are laid and covered up with brush and dead leaves. The remainder of the cutting, 2 or 3 feet long, is placed against the tree and tied to it. The supporting trees should be no nearer than 12 or 15 feet apart, to give sufficient room for the development of the plant. After a month the cuttings have taken root and must be carefully kept free from weeds or briers of all kinds. On the third year vanilla thus planted begins to bear fruit (improperly called beans) and continue many years. When on the other hand a field on flat land or river bottom is selected, the Mexicans first plow it up thoroughly and on it raise a crop of maize. While this is growing, the field becomes, it appears, covered with a quantity of young lactescent trees of the fig family, which, after a year, are large and strong enough to support the vanilla vine. Then the setting of the plant is performed in the manner before described, and from these the finest product is obtained, says the Boston Evening Transcript, the source of the foregoing.

A Famous Prison.

Bastille was in France a general term for a strong fortress defended by towers or bastions, but the name is usually understood to refer to the famous prison built originally as a royal chateau by Charles V about 1370, being afterward demolished and rebuilt by Philip of Valois. When it came to be used by Louis XI as a state prison, it was provided with vast bulwarks and ditches.

In its grim towers and also in cellars under ground the prisons were situated. The unfortunate inmates were so effectually separated from the world as to be often entirely forgotten, and in some cases it was found impossible to discover either their origin or the cause of their imprisonment. They were usually persons of rank sent there by means of "lettres de cachet" or warrants under the king's name, which could be obtained for a consideration and which the person who held them could fill out with any name. In this way many people entirely innocent of crime fell victims to political despotism, court intrigue, ecclesiastical tyranny or the gratification of family quarrels and private feuds.



THE FRENCH BASTILLE.

The Bastille was demolished by the people, July 14, 1789, in the French revolution. Lafayette presented its key to Washington, and it is now numbered with the valuable relics to be seen in Washington's mansion at Mount Vernon.

Popular Furniture Woods.

The Industrial World states that furniture manufacturers are now using mahogany more than ever, particularly in chairs, and it is used also in house finishings. Perhaps the most popular wood of the period, for interior uses and furniture, is American birch, the use of which is increasing largely. It comes from Canada and New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. It costs about one-third the price of mahogany. Good mahogany sells at 18 to 30 cents a foot, according to width. American birch has been growing in favor for several years to some extent, on account of the increasing scarcity and the high prices of cherry, another popular wood, which many would use more freely but for its cost. Cherry now sells at about two-thirds the price of mahogany. Oak is used for house finishings, both quartered and plain. Other popular woods are cypress, sycamore, maple, ash, elm and hazelwood. Black walnut, so generally used 30 years ago is still used somewhat.

YOU MAY STRIKE IT RICH.

If you could pick up $21,000 in gold by one week's work, it would be worth going a few hundred miles to get, wouldn't it?

That's just what the Aztec mine (Colfax Co., New Mexico), produced in seven days, with total product to date of nearly a million dollars.

This rich mine is one of many in the newly-discovered Moreno Valley and Ute Creek placer and quartz gold districts. Take Santa Fe route to Springer, N. M., thence stage to the camp.

Short winters, healthful climate and rich prospects. This may be the chance of a lifetime. Ask local agent A. T. & S. F. R. R. for illustrated pamphlet. It tells the truth about this new country.

Commodious and easy four-horse stages leave Springer every week day at 7 a. m., arriving at Cimarron (23 miles) 11:30 a. m., and Elizabethtown (50 miles) by 5:30 p. m. Passengers for Baldy connect at Ute Creek with separate coach to that camp, arriving 5 p. m. Those destined to Amizette can go from Elizabethtown by horseback or on a tri-weekly stage. The stage fare Springer to Cimarron, is $3.50; to Baldy, $4; and to Elizabethtown, $5; with 10 per cent discount for round trip. Twenty-five pounds free baggage allowed on stage.

Wabash Route.

WHY TAKE THE WABASH

For St. Louis?

Because it is the shortest line, the best equipped line, runs free chair cars, buffet Pullmans, and gives you ample time in Kansas City for supper.

For Toledo or Detroit?

Because it is the shortest line, avoids transfer across the city in case you are going further east, and makes close connections with all trunk lines.

For New York or Boston?

Because it has solid through service from both Chicago and St. Louis via Niagara Falls; gives forty minutes stop at the falls at seasonable time in the morning.

For all other Eastern Points?

Because its service is uniformly good and you can make no mistake in asking for tickets via the Wabash. C. M. HAMPSON,
Commercial Agent, 1924 17th St., Denver.

UNIVERSITY TRAINING AND CITIZENSHIP.

Ordinarily, when we see an article in one of the reviews by a Professor of Political Economy, we take it for granted that the writer is a crank; and we read the article to find out what kind of a crank he is, or, more probably, we do not read it at all just because it is presumably by a crank. It is with the greater pleasure therefore that we find in the September Forum an article which is distinguished by its remarkable sanity and common sense and which is written by a Professor of Political Economy. The people of this city will find nothing wonderful in this, however, when we add that the writer is Dr. Woodrow Wilson of Princeton, whose lectures at the Summer School here this year were one of its most enjoyable and profitable features.

Dr. Wilson's topic in this article is "University Training and Citizenship"—a topic one of the most important to educated men of any that can be considered.

It can scarcely be denied that our present educational training is not adapted as directly as it should be to the making of good citizens. Most of our public school courses, even to the end of the high school, contain very little direct instruction in the duties of citizenship, or in the learning which is preliminary to an intelligent discharge of duty to the State. Even in our colleges this field is sadly neglected, and the history and literature of our race, and more especially our race and national institutions, receive not a tithe of the attention which their importance merits.

It is to the higher education that Professor Wilson directs himself in this article. He notes the fact that the modern university in this country has lost that common basis of humane study which gave to the older university training a distinguishing characteristic. The graduate of a university, in these days of electives, may be a specialist in chemistry, and know nothing whatever of philosophy; or he may be an electrical engineer, and know nothing of the history or the literature of his country. Or he may be learned in the classics, and take no interest in present affairs. There is no central group of studies in all our colleges and universities, which constitutes a bond of union between their various departments, and in which it is safe to assume that all men who hold a graduate's diploma have been trained. We do not know that is necessary to argue that there ought to be some such special group of studies; it seems self-evident. The difference of opinion arises when we try to pick out the particular group of studies which shall be put into this place of foremost importance. In the old days, it used to be Latin, Greek, mathematics and philosophy—meaning by philosophy the science of the mind. There are a great many still who regard the training of these old-fashioned "humane" studies as of greater value than a special training in some branch of science; but there are so many who do not agree with them that it will be impossible to restore the old course of study to its original importance. If it be granted that a common course is advisable, the thing to do, then, is to find some group of studies upon which men can agree as a foundation for a liberal education, and this is what Professor Wilson undertakes to suggest.

What he proposes is, in brief, to put in this central place, as the co-ordinating roup of college or university study, the literature, history and institutions of our own race and country.

After speaking of the complete severance of the old classic curriculum from the modern exclusively scientific training, Professor Wilson goes on to say: "The training that will bring these two extremes together can be obtained by a thorough familiarity with the masterpieces of English thought and with the efforts of human genius in the field of institutions. A body of men thus made acquainted with their species is needed to give us, at the center of our political and social life, a class with definite and elevated ideals and a real capacity for understanding the conditions of progress; a power making for stability and righteousness against the petty and ineffectual turbulence of revolution."

It is refreshing to find a professor of political economy who takes such a wide view, who realizes that the study of literature can do more for man, socially, than the study of science, even the science which he professes, and who suggests, as the co-ordinating principle for the work of our higher institutions of learning, such a widely human group of studies. "The humane spirit of our time," says Professor Wilson, "is a very different thing from the human spirit. The humanity which we nowadays affect is scientific and pathological. It treats men as specimens, and seeks to subject them to experiment. It cuts cross-sections through the human spirit and calls its description of what is thereby disclosed moral essays and theological novels. It is self-conscious and without modesty or humor. The human spirit is a very different thing. It has a memory and sense of humor. It cannot read Ibsen after having read Shakespeare, any more than it can prefer sugar and butter and flour and sweets separately, in their individual intensity, to their toothsome and satisfactory combination in pudding. Its literature is that which has the one flavor for every generation, and the same bread and valid sagacity. It regards the scientific method of investigation as one, but only one, method of finding out the truth; and as a method of finding only one kind of truth. It sees the telling points of the socialistic argument, but it knows some old standards of justice that have outlived many programmes of reform and seem still sound enough to outlast these also. "It's a mad world, my masters," but it takes a nice balance of judgment and a long view of human nature to determine where the madness lies."

We welcome such a contribution as this to the discussion of the proper curriculum for our higher institutions of learning. It seems to us by far the soundest and most sensible suggestion toward an eminently desirable end that has anywhere appeared; and we commend Professor Wilson's article to the thoughtful consideration of all who wish to unify our university training, who desire a body of better educated citizens for the service of the State, and who love the literature and the institutions which have made our race what it is.

It looks very much as if Mr. Debs's responsibility for the telegrams which he denied having sent has been clearly proved to lie with him. But in Populist eyes, this offense o ght to be small, compared with the fact that he held a Western Union half-rate frank. That is almost as bad as a Pullman pass.

The primaries last evening were the largest ever held in this city, and were characterized by the best feeling. The delegates selected are representative citizens, and we have no doubt they will discharge their important duties wisely and well.

There never was a campaign in this or any other State in which it was so emphatically true that all the good citizens were on one side, and all the bad ones on the other.

Mr. Conway Explains.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

One would infer from your article in yesterday's paper that the management of the Printers' Home had been again "white-washed," but if you inquire at headquarters you will find that the visiting committee's recommendations have not been concurred in by the executive body; that the articles which you refer to have not been disproved; that it has been found upon investigation that the repairs were commenced in the fall time, and that six inmates died during said repairs; that my charges against Mr. Schuman and others have not yet been preferred, and that if you will follow the case you will find more interesting matter yet to come.

JOS. P. CONWAY.

(The committee which Mr. Conway criticises recommends that he be discharged from the Home, and reported that his statements were unworthy of belief. The report was printed in The Gazette on Wednesday. Mr. Conway refused to appear before the committee or make any statement to them.—Editor Gazette.)

The Income Tax.

The income tax will be retroactive, in the sense that its first levy will be for the twelve months included in the calendar year 1894. Stated in its simplest terms the income tax applies to all individuals and corporations whose net receipts or clear incomes exceed $4,000 a year, and the tax will be levied at the rate of 2 per cent. upon amounts in excess of the $4,000 exemption line. Thus a man whose income is $5,000 will be taxed 2 per cent. upon $1,000 and will therefore pay an income tax of $20. The law goes into great deal in its endeavor to explain what is meant by "income," and in its further endeavor to devise a way to make the tax effective. Nevertheless it is commonly said that rich men will very generally find ways to evade the law and that only the corporation tax will yield a large revenue. If this were true it would be very deplorable. Until it is ascertained to be true the assertion ought not to be made. The income tax in its existing form seems to us an unwise measure; but there is no possible excuse for evading it. It becomes a liability that no honest man can fail to recognize. This particular income tax is class legislation, and seems to us un-American in every aspect of it. We hope that it may be repealed at no distant day. Senator Hill's consistent and brilliant attempt to defeat it placed him in the most favorable position as a public man that he has ever yet occupied before the American people. As a strong personality and an astute politician Mr. Hill has made a place for himself in the United States Senate that few observers of his career in the arena of State politics has expected. Few if any members of the Senate really believe in the income tax appendage of the tariff bill. Mr. Cleveland, in his letter to Chairman Wilson, expressed mildly but unmistakably his personal dislike of the income tax feature. If in placing a tax upon sugar, which will yield a large revenue, the Senate had followed Mr. Hill's advice and eliminated the income tax, no part of the country would have seriously disapproved and the Senate would have come out of the contest with better public credit. There is not a human being who can express even a glimmeringly intelligent opinion of the amount of revenue that the income tax will yield. Never in the history of the world, it may fairly be guessed, did a great nation enact a revenue measure with so little knowledge of the probable amount of money that it would bring into the public coffers. Mr. Carlisle's position as Secretary of the Treasury under these circumstances is not an enviable one.—(From "The Progress of the World," September Review of Reviews.

Advice to a Bank.

A very seedy man strolled into an Austin bank the other day during business hours, and going up to a window where he saw a clerk counting a package of bills nodded pleasantly and said:

"Still a-handin of it out?"

"Yes," replied the clerk, "still crowding it on to people."

"Ain't you a little too handy here right on the main street?" asked the stranger.

"How so?"

"Strangers passin along and seein your sign so perspicuous like are liable to step in and try to borrow money, ain't they?"

"Rather liable."

"I thought so. Must take up a good deal of time waitin on 'em?"

"Yes, it's some bother, but a bank must be accommodating."

"Folks drop in and borrer what money they want, I suppose, and then go away and forget all about it. Awful careless some folks are about borrered money."

"Yes, they are."

"Shouldn't keep your bank so clus to the sidewalk. Men goin by see you count in money, and that makes them think they lack a little to see 'em through, so they just steps in and borrer of you, don't you see? And you hate to refuse. Don't want to hurt their feelin's, and so they get away with you. Some mighty mean folks in this world. Now, I wouldn't do it."

"You don't look as though you would."

"No, sir. I never borrered a cent of no bank that I didn't pay."

"I'll bet you didn't," said the clerk, with emphasis.

"Now, if I was runnin a bank I wouldn't have it on the main street. I'd keep it back in some alley where there wasn't so many strangers passin. What, only 10 cents?"

"Yes, only 10 cents today. You see, there have been so many strangers in ahead of you this morning that our funds are running low. Ta ta. Don't trouble yourself to send it back in a registered letter. When the bank wants it, the bank will notify you. Goodby."

And the seedy man departed. Texas Siftings.

He Was Caught.

"Hello, old boy, you are the very chap I wanted to see," said one Pittsburger to another. "I was just coming to look you up."

"What's the matter?"

"Nothing much. You know that I have accepted a position with the Unlimited Trust and Confidence company, don't you?"

"Yes; I'd heard of it."

"Well, I have to give bonds with two bondsmen. I've secured one, and you'll do for the other. That's what I wanted to see you about. Just step into the office a minute and prepare to swear that you are worth $10,000."

"I'm sorry, awfully sorry," replied the other man, who did not want to go on the bond, "but it is impossible. I'm not worth $10,000. If it was $6,000 or $7,000 I could accommodate you, and I'd do it cheerfully, but $10,000 is beyond my wealth."

"Did I say $10,000?"

"Yes."

"Then I made a mistake. Five thousand is the right figure. Just step in here and be qualified."

The other reluctantly stepped. Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Its Fault.

They hovered about the edge of the crowded ballroom.

A scene of rare beauty and brilliance presented itself to their gaze.

"What," asked the large mosquito with a florid complexion in a hoarse whisper, "do you think of the taste of that girl in the cream satin with heliotrope trimmings?"

The mosquito with the pale, intellectual cast of countenance shook his head sadly.

"Decidedly brackish, it struck me," he replied.

A blare from the orchestra rendered further conversation quite out of the question. Detroit Tribune.

Americanizing.

The superintendent of a mission school was approached the other day by a pupil who had "viewed with alarm" the growing number of Italian children.

"Please, sir," she said, "we do not like to have so many foreigners join the school."

"Ah yes, yes," replied the diplomatic superintendent. "H'm where were you born?"

"In Sweden, sir." Hartford Post.

DISTRICT COURT.

WORK ON CRIMINAL CASES NOW BEGUN.

The Bull Hill Indictments - Many of the Criminals Have Forfeited Their Bonds —The County will Gain Considerably - Other Cases set for Trial, The Union Pays Their Lawyers.

The September term of court began on Wednesday, and it derives an additional interest from the fact that the cases of the Bull Hill strikers who were indicted were to be tried. Some of them will be tried and some will not. A majority of them will not, because most of the men who were bailed out have jumped their bail, and their bondsmen will have to pony up the $5,000. Most of them are good, and the county will net a tidy sum from the forfeitures. It will not be so easy hereafter for men who are accused of crime to get bondsmen.

Among the cases called was that of McNamara, usually known as "Dynamite" McNamara. He sad said would have to consult his lawyer. In answer to questions, he said he had no property and no money. Asked how he could afford to hire a lawyer, he said that the Miners' Union had done that, and that the lawyer was Tom Patterson When asked how soon he could communicate with his lawyer, he replied that he would have to write up to the union first, and they would send the lawyer.

Another of the men arraigned was "Kid West," who was very much astonished to find that he had a lawyer. Still another was Otto Zoller, who will be represented by Lawyer Montgomery. To-day the notorious Dunn will be arraigned.

Cases were set for the term as follows:
People vs. Johnson, set for Sept. 25.
People vs. Cooper, set for Sept. 26
People vs. Thomas, set for Sept. 22.
People vs. Thompson, set for Sept. 21.
People vs. Ryan, set for Sept. 27.
People vs Hock, set for Sept. 24.
People vs. Murray, set for Sept. 27
People vs. Salter, set for trial Sept. 27.
People vs. Gibson, set for Sept. 26.
People vs. West, set for Sept. 20.
People vs. Pendleton, set for trial Sept. 18.
People vs. Woerz, set for Sept. 25.
People vs Green, Miller, Guyer, Roach, Jackson, Owen, Bailey and O'Hanley; called three times and no reply. The bonds were ordered forfeited. These are some of the Cripple Creek Bull Hill cases.

Attorney's were appointed to defend in the following cases: People vs. Thomas, by Hutchinson & Sloan; people vs. Thompson, by Early; people vs. Ryan, by George; People vs. Hock, by Danford; people vs. Murray, by Johnson; people vs. Salter, by Blackmer; people vs. Pendleton, by Danford; people vs. Woerz, by Capt. Johnson; people vs. Brown, by Capt. Johnson; people vs. Perris, by Hutchins; people vs. Blanchard, by Widdicomb; people vs. Smith, by Ed Vanatta.

"Lady Windermere's Fan" Tonight

The attraction at the opera house this evening will be "Lady Windermere's Fan," presented by one of Frohman's best companies, headed by the well known actress, Miss Olive Oliver. An exchange says: "From the standpoint of a sentimentalist, the last act of 'Lady Windermere's Fan,' is the finest in the play. Those who have seen the play will remember the scene where Lord Windermere defines a mother's love to Mrs. Erlynne. Mrs Erlynne has lived 20 years without revealing her identity to her daughter, but has just atoned for her neglect by one great act of self-sacrifice. Not knowing of this act, Lord Windermere leaps upon her the bitterest of contumely and scorns the idea that she would know a mother's feelings—a name associated with self-sacrifice. Mrs. Erlynne laughs lightly and admits the justice of the reproach. "Self-sacrifice," she smiled; "yes, it is true, what do I know of self-sacrifice?" and behind the mask the audience knows that the heart which the maternal instinct aroused is breaking, and that this undutiful mother's one act of self-sacrifice has more than atoned for all of the 20 years of neglect.

The Latest.

There are all kinds of gambling in Chicago, no doubt of it. Three buds of promise in summer gowns came fluttering into a West Side drug store and went to the soda water fountain as if by instinct.

"Will you let us have the directory, please?" said one of them.

The bulky volume was laid before her.

"Now, girls, remember the last figure counts, right hand page, and each one gets three cuts. I'll begin."

She opened the book and said, "Oh-h-h!" while the two giggled with delight. The page was 1703.

"Put down three there," said she. Another cut brought 467.

"That makes 10. Now I get another. Good! That's five more. Fifteen isn't bad."

The second girl opened at 269, so that nine was her first count. Next time she "cut" three, and the last number was seven, making her, as she observed, "high man."

The third one began with 76, added five and collapsed on the third trial, for the right hand page was 1451.

"I'm stuck," she said, with the philosophic air of a thorough sport. She began to rummage in her purse, and the highly entertained drug clerk drew three chocolate ice cream sodas.

He observed after the girls departed, "That's the first time I ever knew the city directory was a gambling implement." Chicago Record.

In the Wrong Place.

Mr. Pluggins had been playing the races that day, and, as is sometimes the case, he had bet on the favorite. He had walked home, and when he went to bed he felt like sleeping, but in the middle of the night he was disturbed by a burglar in his room. When he opened his eyes, he saw Mr. Burglar rummaging in the drawer of his dressing case, and it provoked him to such an extent that he slipped a revolver from under his bed and in a second had the marauder under cover. Then he announced himself, and the burglar saw that it was too late to kick.

"Don't move," remarked Pluggin, "or I'll shoot. What are you trying to get out of that drawer anyhow?"

"Nothin," growled the humbled robber sullkily.

"Why in thunder didn't you look in my pockets, if that is all you wanted?" laughed Mr. Pluggins cheerily and then wounded the burglar's feelings by asking him where he had taken lessons in burgling. Detroit Free Press.

Manservant At a writing master's.

Gent What were you required to do?

Manservant I had to keep shaking the table when a new pupil wrote the words, "This is my handwriting before commencing to take lessons." Ulk.

No Kick Needed.

"Why don't you get a boy to keep your desk in order?" inquired the caller. "It looks awfully littered up."

"I keep it this way," said the man at the desk, "to show that I'm always busy."

"But why oh, I see! Good day!" Chicago Tribune.

Phenomenal.

Jack Yes, they are twins, and there is a remarkable thing about them.

Tom What is it?

Jack The unmarried one admits to being five years older than the unmarried one. Truth.

A Good Reason.

Yonnie's Father (sternly) What was your reason for doing that bad boy'er, Yonnie?

Yonnie To keep from gettin licked. Detroit Free Press.

Proof Positive.

Husband You shampoo'd your hair last night, didn't you?

Wife How did you know?

Husband I have just been trying to shave myself. Life.

Oblivious.

Herr Professor, a little son has just arrived."

HE LIVED TO REPENT.

How an Exultant Householder Caught His Landlord In a Trap.

A doctor on the West Side was called in great haste to the residence of a man. Arriving there, he found the man's head battered and torn to such a degree that sewing it up reminded him of an old fashioned quilting bee. When the patient was able to give an account of the accident that disabled him, he related this sad tale:

"I am behind three months with my rent. That's one-half of the secret of my misery. The other half is that some boys in my neighborhood have lately been ringing my doorbell at all hours of the night, greatly to my annoyance. Time after time I was called to the door, only to find nobody there. Finally I ran a wire from a battery to the doorbell, so that the next boy who played the trick on me would be held there until I could reach him and rend him limb from limb.

"About an hour ago I heard a ring at the door and went there exulting. I opened the door, and there was my landlord standing on his head and hanging onto the handle of the doorbell. About a thousand volts of electricity were chasing each other through his system, and the way he kicked at the door casing and clawed round with his free hand was a sight to be seen I was scared worse than he was, though, and I turned off the current and went to carry him into the house."

"Did you carry him?"

"I don't think I did. Everything that happened after I returned to the door is vague and indistinct. I have a confused recollection that he grabbed a passing street car and knocked me on the head with it, and that he tore off the doorbell and made me swallow it, wires and all, but I cannot say positively what occurred. I expect him to return at any hour, and I think the next time you come you had better bring along a sewing machine. The old plan of stitching by hand is too slow and tedious." Chicago Tribune.

The Innocents at Home.

Children occasionally give some very peculiar answers. A little Texas boy, on being asked how many children his father and mother had, replied:

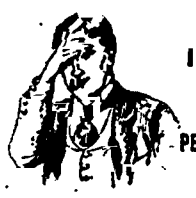
"I am all the children they have got."

Another little boy, on being asked the same question, replied:

"Two girls and a boy. I'm the boy." Texas Siftings.

Neuralgia

ATTACKS THE EYES



Makes THE LIGHT Unbearable.

PERMANENTLY CURED BY USING

Ayer's Pills

"My husband was subject to severe attacks of neuralgia which caused him great pain and suffering. The pains were principally about his eyes, and he often had to remain in a darkened room, not being able to stand the light. Ayer's Pills being recommended, he tried them, using one before each meal. They very soon afforded relief, followed by permanent cure. I am a strong believer in the efficacy of Ayer's Pills, and would not be without them for ten times their cost."—Mrs. M. E. DEBAT, Liberty, Tex.

"I have used Ayer's Pills in my family for forty years, and regard them as the very best.—Uncle MARTIN HANCOCK, Lake City, Fla.

MINES AND STOCKS.

CLAUDE SACHS.....Mining Editor

Colorado Springs Exchange.

Colorado Springs, Sept. 6.—Punctually at 11 a. m. yesterday, Secretary Donaldson commenced the call of stocks from the rostrum. As usual, Mollie Gibson was the first on the list, the announcement of it was the signal for great activity on the part of Messrs Rope, Bolles and Edsall. The stock started selling at 98, but rose rapidly to $1, $1 01 1-2 and $1.05, at which price it closed strong with $1.02 bid. Some 1700 shares changed hands, which is the largest amount traded in (in so few minutes), for some time past. Good reports from the mine caused the activity. Things then quieted down until Specimen was reached, it was offered at 1 with 1-2 bid for any part of the treasury stock, and 5-8 for a special block. Anaconda caused considerable quibbling and eventually a small block was knocked down at 22. Summit appears to be in a curious condition, the holders probably awaiting further developments. H. R. Wray was offering to buy or sell but could do no business either way. Over 5000 Cripple Creek Consolidated at 1 1-2 and 1 5-8 were sold; the stock appears weak.

With the commencement of the second call the brokers were once again busy with Mollie Gibson and small blocks of it sold at better prices than in the morning. 450 out of the total changing hands at $1.05. It closed strong at $1.07 1-2 asked. The price of Fannie Rawlings was hammered down a little but though the brokers eventually got pretty close together no sales were made. Bids of 15 1-2 for Summit, 13 for Isabella and 72 for Summit were of no avail.

The total sales of the day were far heavier than any previous and amounted to over 11,000.

Curb Sales.

Trading off board was much brisker yesterday than it has been heretofore this week. Some 30,000 shares changed hands and of these nearly half can be credited to Calumet, though nothing especially new is reported from that company's mine to occasion the activity. There was also considerable trading in Bankers, Union and World, but all at low prices. Other lesser sales were spread pretty well over the list.

The Denver Pit.

Denver, Sept. 6.—The market here today continued about the same as yesterday, both in regard to the number of sales made and the prices quoted.

Argentum Juniata, Calumet, Fannie Rawlings, Union and Isabella are all active, some of them showing considerable strength. The principal sales were 5000 Alamo at 1 1-8, 1000 Amity at 1, 4000 Calumet at 2, 1500 Fannie Rawlings at 11, 1000 Jack Pot at 1 7-8, 5000 Union at 11 1-2 and 1000 Work at 2.

Current News.

In addition to the sales contained in our "off board" list, 10,000 Adele and 5000 Union Pacific were reported.

The Ida B. on Raven hill, is now being worked by sets of lessees. On the north end the Messrs Trout are at work and they have opened a vein that runs $148 to the ton.

The Victor monthly dividend is for 5 cents per share. It will be paid Sept. 15 in Denver, and amounts to $10,000.

Mollie Gibson had quite a boom on 'change yesterday.

According to The Journal, The Gazette's report of the strike in the Globe claim, belonging to the Summit company, is underestimated. They place the width of the vein at 50 feet.

Messrs. Dandford & Potter have been appointed attorneys for the Provident and Lindley companies which have been formed to operate in Cripple Creek and Turkey Creek respectively.

A nice strike was made within the last few days, not on any fashionable hill of the camp, but within three miles of town, and the ore runs by assay 12.24 ounces per ton. Particulars in full of the strike in the near future.

All the Jack Pot properties are reported as doing well. The company made a wise move when they gave a number of leases on the claims, and it is one that others, such as the Isabella, Work and Anaconda have flattered by imitation.

The Denver mint did a big day's work on Wednesday. No less than 42 deposits were handled, a good portion of which found their way hither from Cripple Creek. The new coinage mint, which is surely coming, is badly needed.

The Sylvanite mill, below Anaconda, after being shut down for three weeks for repairs, started the full 20 stamps yesterday. The mill is equipped with the new Cranmer concentrator, which it is thought will prove a complete success.

It was stated on good authority yesterday that another lead-carbonate strike had been made at camp. This time the find was made on the north side of Rhyolite mountain. The Maggie Trimble lode, where the original strike was made, is south of this hill.

A new company to operate in Turkey creek has been formed. It is called the Lindley Mining and Land company and is said to have good prospects in the Turkey Creek district. The company is backed by several wealthy parties from Nevada, Mo., and of Colorado Springs.

Papers have been filed for the Provident Gold Mining company to operate in Cripple Creek. The company has secured titles to 40 lode mining claims which are said to be in one of the best locations at camp. The directors are H. S. Erway, Russell Prentice, S. Zellner, Charles F. Walker, F. Potter, H. S Mitchell, Herbert Skinner, G. W. Lloyd and J. R. McKinney.

A new activity seems to have taken hold among the placer miners of the camp. Extensive machinery has been placed in operation on the placer west of town, with a capacity of several hundred tons daily. The promoters of the scheme anticipate "golden results." Scores of private individuals are working on the Hayden placer just north of the city limits with some excellent results.

The Engineering Journal says that the African Gold Recovery company reports that the amount of gold recovered (chiefly from tailings) by the cyanide process in the Transvaal, under its licenses in July, was 37,500 ounces, a decrease of 500 ounces from the June return. The total amount reported this year for the seven months ending July 31 was 288,950 ounces, against 154,613 ounces for the corresponding period last year.

One of the most active stocks on 'change yesterday was Mollie Gibson. It sold in large blocks at from 98 cents to $1.02 1-2. It is reported, on the best authority, that a big strike has been made in the mine within the past few days. The ore has been found in a new place and runs from $150 to $200 to the ton, the new vein being from 10 to 12 feet wide. This fact had evidently leaked out early yesterday, hence the rise in the price of this old favorite.

Joe Watson has leased and bonded part of the claims belonging to the Arvilla company. They are in a fine locality, being just east of the Victor and Smuggler and include the Caxtus, Clionen and other lodes. It is a mistake to state that these properties are near the Zenobia, that claim is about 10,000 feet off. Mr. Watson is working two shifts on the property and will pay 10, 15 and 20 per cent. royalties on ores.

Sir Rowland Hill.

Sir Rowland Hill was the man who in the early part of Queen Victoria's reign reorganized the postal service of Great Britain, from which ours is adopted, and made it possible to send a letter for a few cents to any part of the country. He was the son of a schoolteacher, but so delicate he was not permitted to study with his brothers. He suffered from loneliness a great deal, yet found perfect contentment in lying flat on his stomach on the hearth rug, adding up tremendous columns of figures. Later in life he was celebrated for his knowledge of mathematics and held important posts under the government, for which he was knighted.

Kipling a Well Paid Author.

There is more evidence that Kipling is the best paid author of the day. The English and American rights of four short stories of about 7,000 words each were sold recently for about $900 each, and to this must be added the income from Australian, Indian, Canadian and German rights. Seven words or so for $1 is very good pay for even a successful writer.

How She Spends Her Time.

She sits on the beach, and the lack of men
Never troubles this maid at all.
For she's busy wondering with all her might
What the fashions will be next fall.

75 Farms For Sale.

We have for sale a tract of 1500 acres of rich garden and fruit lands under the big Bessemer ditch, in Pueblo county, that can be cut up into 75 farms of 20 acres each. There is ample water, and all the cities and towns east of the range are the markets. A farmer can make as much on 20 acres of this land as on 160 acres in the Mississippi valley. This land was taken under foreclosure during the panic, and we can sell it away under the price of the surrounding lands. We want to find one man or company to buy the entire tract, sub-divide it, and sell it at retail. There is a fortune in it for a hustler. We want $8000 in cash, bank stocks, real estate or mining stocks, and will divide the remainder into 15 equal annual payments at low interest. This will enable the purchaser to give 15 years time when he sells at retail.

We have some good real estate to trade for Cripple Creek mining stocks. And we have a few good business chances for sale or trade.

THE MARKETS.

SUGAR AND WHISKY OCCUPIED THE NEW YORKERS.

Corn Lent Strength to Chicago Grain—The Spring Wheat Crop Will Not Exceed Sixty Million Bushels—A Better Hog Market With Rising Prices—The Local Markets.

New York, Sept. 6—Money on call has been easy at 1; last loan at 1 and closing offered at 1 per cent.

American Sugar and Distillers and Cattle Feeders were the predominating features in the stock market to-day. Of the first named 82,300 shares were traded in while Distillers figured for 37,400 shares. The total sales for the entire list were 234,530 shares, of which 119,700 were American Sugar and Distillers.

Sugar was the attraction in the early trading, the stock having broke from 101½ to 102½ on a rumor that the company intended to reduce its dividends at the coming meeting of the directors. Later on when Treasurer Searl announced that the meeting would not be held until Tuesday next and that the question had not been touched upon as yet by the officials, the stock rallied to 101¾. The railway list which had ranged within narrow limits while these changes were taking place in Sugar, developed a little more strength, and on moderate purchases moved up ½@½ per cent. the Grangers, Western Union and Louisville and Nashville being quite prominent at this time. Just before 2 o'clock Distillers forged to the front and on heavy sales for Chicago and local account broke to 106

Net changes show losses of ¼@1 per cent. outside of Distillers, which declined 2¾ per cent. Sugar gained ¾ and Lead and Canada Southern ½ per cent. each.

The bond market was irregular, but in the main weak. Sales were $1,293,000

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Corn and Hogs Monopolized the Attention.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—With the exception of two or three spurts of activity, wheat had a disgustingly dull session to-day. Even the operators lost interest for a time, the most inveterate of them abandoning the pit, but remaining within easy call. The strength—and it was generally a strong tone that ruled came mostly from corn although about noon there was little "short" covering that lifted prices a trifle. The receipts were not encouraging to sellers only 196 cars coming in at Chicago and 757 in the Northwest, whilst the exports were still running quite heavy, 632,889 bushels in wheat and flour clearing.

A letter from Hinckley the corn expert, who has been traveling in the Northwest, to the effect that the entire spring wheat crop would not exceed 60,000,000 bushels and that it would be marketed by Oct. 15, was in the hands of some parties who bought wheat on the information. Liverpool cables were weak

Corn—There was less activity to corn to-day than yesterday. The feeling was strong, however, and prices evinced a firm upward tendency.

Oats were dull and almost neglected. Receipts were 206 cars and 185 are expected to-morrow.

Provisions—The strength in products at the opening to-day came from corn and from a better hog market. The packers showed opposition to an advance and their offerings brought about a decline. The general buoyancy in grain, near the close save provisions another upward turn and the close was 10 cents higher for January pork and 2½ cents higher each for January lard and January ribs.

"There must be some mistake in your calculations," replied the lady. "It takes water to make mud." Indianapolis Journal.

THERE is but one way in the world to be sure of having the best paint, and that is to use only a well-established brand of strictly pure white lead, pure linseed oil, and pure colors.*

The following brands are standard, "Old Dutch" process, and are always absolutely

Strictly Pure White Lead "Southern," "Red Seal," "Collier."

* If you want colored paint, tint any of the above strictly pure leads with National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors.

These colors are sold in one-pound cans, each can being sufficient to tint 25 pounds of Strictly Pure White Lead the deep red shade; they are in no sense ready mixed paints, but a combination of perfectly pure colors in the hardest form to hurt Strictly Pure White Lead.

The County Commissioners have been making some changes in the precincts. Four Mile precinct has been abolished. A precinct has been made at Beaver Park to take its place and will be known as No. 14. A precinct has been made at Gillette and will be numbered 46. A precinct has been made at Victor and will be numbered 47. This last precinct is formed from parts of the Lawrence and Barry precincts. The people who formerly voted at Four Mile will vote this year in Cripple Creek.

There was a little accident at the depot yesterday morning which laid up two engines but which did no injury to persons. The Rio Grande train, a very heavy one, with two engines, was about an hour late. A Rock Island switch engine, No. 74, was backing slowly off the main track just below Huerfano street, when the regular train came around the curve. Seeing it coming, the engineer put on steam, but the wheels slipped and he could not get quite out of the way. There were two engines pulling the big train, Nos. 537 and 534. The foremost one caught the cab of No. 74 with its cylinder, smashed the cab, tore off part of the side and knocked off its own cylinder. No. 534 escaped with a scrape on the side of the cab and was able to go on after a short delay and pull its train to Denver. The engineer of No. 74 jumped in time to avoid the collision and was not hurt. The switch engine was shouldered off the track by the force of the blow, and it took several hours to clear up everything.

Are you sure the Kidneys are not the cause of your trouble? In hundreds of cases the patients are treated for other diseases, when a simple kidney remedy would have cured them. It is worth your while to find out, and a trial package of Gin-gin Kidney Tea costs only 25 cents. It is strictly vegetable and can do you no harm, and our opinion is, it is the medicine you need.—Sold by F. E. Robinson.

DENVER HOTELS.

People recently returning from Denver are loud in their praises of the Albany Hotel, which has just been remodeled and newly furnished at a cost of over $100,000, making it one of the best hotels in the country. Conducted in a first-class manner on both European and American plans by an experienced hotel man, with its peerless location, it has suddenly become very popular with tourists and commercial travelers. The very popular rates of $1 a day and upwards on European plan, and $2 to $2.50 American plan, catch the people these times. The manager, Mr. J. D. Fanning, for many years identified with Chicago hotels, spares no pains to make the Albany what it is, the very best hotel in Denver.
